

COMMUNITY REPORT

A View of Our Community

The title of our report is, "A View of Our Community." You can see throughout this report all of the windows that have been opened because of the support of our donors and friends.

This past year, we opened another window of opportunity for postsecondary education in our community. In reviewing our gaps, the need to offer vocational training to our local high schools was identified. With the help of several local partners, the Welding and Advanced Manufacturing Program (WAMP) was created. This program offers area high school students the opportunity to take dual-enrollment classes at Jackson College and, upon graduation, posses specialized skill sets and be certification-ready in the areas of advanced manufacturing, welding and energy systems. This program advances our mission to have students work ready and career ready.

We have also expanded our windows of opportunity in our HCCAP! program. Due to the implementation of College Application Week, 92% of our graduating seniors last year completed college applications, making them 200% more likely to attend some formal training beyond high school. We also saw an increase in the number of our scholarship applications and our scholarship awards.

We were also pleased to continue to provide opportunities through our existing programs. As seen in this report, our annual giving to the community reached an all time high of $715,000, impacting all areas of our community. Distributions from our donor-driven funds also saw a large increase, allowing our donors the chance to direct their charitable dollars to the causes that matter most to them.

We would like to thank everyone who helped us make these opportunities happen. From our donors, our community partners, and the agencies and individuals that are a part of program development, we thank you. We continue to promote the idea that together we can do more. Together we are making a difference. For Good. For Ever.

In Community Service,

BOARD PRESIDENT

In May 2014, the North Adams-Jerome Robot Commander robotics team applied for a grant from the HCCF General Endowment Fund to expand the robotics program to other areas in Hillsdale County. The project was awarded $17,000 to cover team fees for the existing Robot Commander team, as well as startup teams from Camden-Frontier and Jonesville Community Schools. The fees will cover entry in two district events and parts kits for base robots for each team.

The mission of the HCCF is to receive and administer funds for artistic, charitable, educational, and scientific purposes in a manner that both promotes the spirit of philanthropy and meets the needs of the people of Hillsdale County. In 2012, the North Adams-Jerome team received two grants, from the Kellogg Youth Advisory Fund and the HCCF General Endowment Fund to assist with the start-up of the program. The program has proven to be very popular with students and has attracted the attention of businesses and other schools.

Because of the growing popularity and awareness of the robotics team activities, Robot Commander is aiming to duplicate the success of their team in the Jonesville and Camden-Frontier areas of the county. The purpose of the program is to celebrate science and technology, and to encourage young people to become science and technology heroes. Both schools have a number of students committed to participating, and HCCF is excited to be a part of this initiative to encourage interest in science and technology, and to increase opportunities for local students to participate in and learn from these experiences.

Susena Finegan, a 2014 Hillsdale High School graduate, is on her way to accomplishing the largest goal she has set for herself so far. Susena dreams of leading worship and traveling in mission fields around the world, an ambition that she knows she can realize after achieving a college degree. She is currently attending Hillsdale College, majoring in vocal performance. In high school, Susena participated in Key Club, Student Council, National Honor Society, Honors Choir, Hillsdale Arts Chorale, Varsity Tennis, Varsity Cheer, and several activities within her church.

Ms. Finegan's commitment to a strong work ethic and willingness to challenge herself made her an ideal candidate for several scholarship awards from funds administered by HCCF. Susena was awarded four different scholarships (one renewable for three additional years). The various scholarship selection committees were impressed with Susena's passion and her accomplishments.

The Community Foundation's scholarship program enables donors to assist area students in pursuing their education beyond high school. The Foundation offers scholarships to current high school graduates and non-traditional students, and a majority of the awards require the applicant to be a Hillsdale County resident.

Each scholarship fund has its own selection committee as determined by the donor of the fund, and HCCF processes the application materials for the committees and waits for a decision. Students are notified of their awards either during Class Night for graduating seniors or the week following the area graduations for all non-traditional students. HCCF scholarship awards vary in size and number. Each award is a gift from a member of our community who believes in the power of an education.

It's no secret that the job market is changing, and so are the skills needed to succeed in the workplace. In the not-so-distant past, many Hillsdale County residents could count on finding a long-term, good-paying job at one of many local manufacturing facilities. These types of jobs, for the most part, are no longer available for the Hillsdale County workforce. Most employment opportunities offering more than the minimum wage require that employees have earned some type of advanced degree or credential.

Local leaders and educational professionals have come together in an effort to promote and provide vocational education opportunities for the young people of Hillsdale County. HCCF has provided the majority of the funding necessary to implement the Hillsdale County Welding and Manufacturing (WAM) program. The program is a collaborative effort between Jackson College and HCCF, and offers two educational program tracks that could lead to three possible career paths. Amanda Janes, Jackson College Academic Advisor and Director of the LeTarte Center in Hillsdale, says, "This program is important so that students in our community have the ability to have handson opportunities in the manufacturing setting, Hillsdale's predominant employment field."

Aimed at high school juniors, the WAM program offers two classes each semester that focus on welding, electronic and manufacturing technologies, and energy systems. Each public school district in Hillsdale County was invited to enroll a limited number of juniors in the two-year pilot program. After two years, those students will be eligible to take a skills test for certifications, and students will also earn college credits for the courses offered through the program. Through Jackson

College, students are on a track to earn a certificate or Associate's Degree in Advanced Manufacturing, an Associate's or Bachelor of Science Degree in Energy Systems, or a Welding certificate. Camden-Frontier (C-F) High School Counselor Carmen Hughes says that the biggest selling points of the program for students and parents is that students will be able to gain employment during the final portion of the program; students will also have earned almost 30 college credits over the course of two years.

Camden-Frontier junior Ethan Martin is involved in the WAM program to "get a good job right out of school instead of looking around forever." He feels that the program is important because it teaches him about work and the skills needed today. Another C-F junior, Ryan Kirkingburg, is hoping to learn how to weld, how to read a blueprint, and how to do minor electrical work. He says that he could only pursue this type of education and training if it was offered free of charge; the program is currently offered at no cost to students.

Dan English, Hillsdale High School Guidance Counselor, says that there has been a 30-year underfunding of the skilled labor market, which has created a demand that cannot be met with the programs currently in place. "This pilot program will help to begin to meet the demand and raise an awareness of the critical shortage we face," says English. The growth and survival of Hillsdale County rests to a large degree on the ability to attract and retain the trained and skilled workers of tomorrow. In order to accomplish this, the value of vocational education and training must be fully recognized and supported within the county. HCCF and Jackson College aim to support sustained achievement in these areas through the WAM program. Meeting this need is vital to the economic survival and growth of Hillsdale County.

Hillsdale County public school.

In November 2013, Hillsdale County hosted their first College Application Week activities in ten area high schools. The goal of the week was to give every graduating senior the opportunity to apply to college. During this event, students could apply to community colleges, independent colleges and universities, and state universities in which they were interested, many of which waived application fees for that week. High school guidance counselors, volunteers, and HCCF staff worked with Hillsdale County seniors during the week to complete and submit online at least one college application. Hillsdale County had 389 seniors participate, completing 1,038 college applications – a 92% student participation rate.

In May 2014, HCCAP! coordinated and encouraged Decision Day activities in eight Hillsdale County high schools. Decision Day is an opportunity for high school seniors to share their decisions regarding activities after high school, including pursuing postsecondary education or entering the workforce or military service. Each school that took part chose their own Decision Day activities, and the HCCAP! provided 425 "I Decided" t-shirts and locker signs to all seniors within the participating schools.

The purpose of HCCAP! is to ensure that all students, adults and work-age residents are aware of, have access to and make use of county-wide support services for post-secondary educational opportunities. To help guarantee its success, HCCAP! has a dynamic leadership team which is made up of local leaders from various sectors in our community, including K-12 school districts, the Intermediate School District, post-secondary educational institutions, local businesses, philanthropy, nonprofit support agencies, governmental agencies, parents and students.

In November 2013, the Jonesville Community Schools FFA Chapter received a mini-grant from the HCCF YOUTH. Mini-grants are an option for youth-serving organizations to apply for funding outside of the "regular" grant cycles in November and April of each year; requests can be for no more than $500 and a project can only be funded one time through the mini-grant process. The FFA requested and received a grant of $490 to purchase canning equipment.

The Jonesville FFA currently maintains a community service garden, working to plant and harvest various types of produce. In April and May of 2014, FFA members and elementary students planted the garden. All produce grown and gathered from the garden was donated to area food pantries. Because of the limited shelf life of fresh produce, the FFA canned some of the produce so that it could be stored for a longer period of time. In 2014, the FFA donated over 1,500 pounds of fresh and canned produce to over 900 families in Hillsdale County.

With a relatively minimal monetary investment, the Jonesville FFA has been able to purchase supplies to last for 3-5 years of canning activities and has served an astounding number of Hillsdale County families in just the first year. Many students do not garden at home, and this project aided in students learning about canning and food preservation, the importance of growing their own food, providing for those in need. Canning techniques are now part of the Jonesville High School curriculum for the Food Processing and Agriscience classes. The HCCF YOUTH are proud to support this project because of amazing impact on both the students and those in need in our community.

funds designated specifically for local nonprofits and their programs. HCCF currently has the infrastructure in place to allow for several giving options for donors. Contributors can choose to utilize payroll deduction through an employer, pledges, and one-time donations to support several designated local agencies.

Designated contributions for local organizations are distributed directly to the agencies on a quarterly basis, to ensure that donations can be put to use in a timely manner and when needed most. The Foundation also offers donors the option of contributing to an unrestricted fund, which will aid agencies through an application and allocation process.

On October 18, 2013, several Hillsdale County non-profits were given an amazing opportunity to double donations for their organizations; the Foundation committed a pool of matching funds to selected organizations for contributions received on Community Match Day.

During Match Day many people made donations to 12 local nonprofits, several of those organizations providing critical assistance with basic human needs. $204,213.56 was leveraged, including public donations of $154,213.56 and matching grants from the Community Foundation totaling $50,000.
